MAYOR EVANS TARGETS HOMEOWNERSHIP

Mayor Malik Evans

By Staff

Mayor Malik Evans says he has been dedicated to addressing the needs of renters and landlords for the past 2 years. He called upon the Housing Quality Task Force to establish partnerships, improve City programs, and coordinate efforts with state, county, and partner organizations to boost homeownership opportunities and provide better assistance to existing homeowners.

"Homeownership is a key way for families to build wealth and create stability for future generations," Evans emphasized. "We must concentrate on empowering homeowners to maximize the value of their homes, while also assisting renters in transitioning to homeownership to establish roots and invest in themselves and our city."

The Housing Quality Task Force was formed in February 2022 with a 90-day mandate to develop policies and programs to enhance housing quality in Rochester. Since then, the City has implemented a Landlord-Tenant Bill of Rights and Responsibilities, expanded its code enforcement team, introduced an online property management platform, and compiled a database of vacant properties.

The mayor affirmed that initiatives like the Buy The Block program and the Rochester Land Bank contributed to the increase of available quality housing. Evans noted that a specialized City team, including a housing attorney, has been established to target non-compliant landlords and address long-standing Certificate of Occupancy and code violation cases.

Evans believes with these accomplishments under their belt, the Housing Quality Task Force now has 60 business days to broaden its scope, develop strategies for promoting homeownership, offer additional support to current homeowners, and engage new partners.

PROPOSALS NEEDED FOR NATHANIEL HAWTHORNE (SCHOOL NO. 25) BUILDING

Nathaniel Hawthorne (School No. 25) Building

By Staff

The City of Rochester has released a Request for Proposals (RFP) for the sale of the Nathaniel Hawthorne (School No. 25) building at 965 North Goodman St. in the city's Northeast Quadrant. The City said that the property includes two potential parcels, combining for a total land area of approximately 3.38 acres: the former school building at 965 N.

Goodman St. and an adjacent undeveloped playground at 576 Bay St.

The report confirms proposals should focus on the redevelopment of the existing structure, incorporating parking and green space, and should aim to boost the city's economic development, expand the tax base, complement nearby developments, stabilize neighborhood property values, and promote environmentally sustainable construction. The document noted only proposals that involve renovating and reusing the existing building will be considered.

"This historic property is ripe for a new chapter and offers a unique opportunity for our community," said Mayor Evans. "Revitalizing this property has enormous potential to strengthen our neighborhoods and drive economic growth, reinforcing our commitment to building a safe, equitable, and prosperous Rochester by inspiring hope and providing opportunities for everyone."

According to an independent appraisal by Midland Appraisal Associates in April 2024, the property sale offers two purchase options:

* For use as a school or educational facility, the combined parcels at 965 N. Goodman St. and 576 Bay St. are priced at $820,000.

* For adaptive reuse, such as housing or commercial purposes, only the primary property at 965 N. Goodman St. is available for $800,000, with the City retaining ownership of 576 Bay St.

The City will hold a virtual informational meeting at 2 p.m. on Wednesday, June 26, 2024, via Zoom. Building and site inspections are scheduled for:

- * 10 a.m., Thursday, June 20, 2024
- * 2 p.m., Monday, July 8, 2024
- * 10 a.m., Wednesday, July 17, 2024

For more details, including a comprehensive property description, zoning requirements, purchaser eligibility, proposal submission requirements, and evaluation criteria, please review the Nathaniel Hawthorne School No. 25 RFP. Interested parties can also contact the City's Director of Real Estate, Paul Scuderi, at Paul.Scuderi@Cityof-Rochester.gov with any questions and to submit proposals.

CITY COUNCILMEMBERS UNVEIL INITIATIVE TO REDUCE TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS

By Staff

City leaders, Thursday, unveiled a plan they say will help to eliminate traffic fatalities and injuries.

The initiative, called "Vision Zero" incorporates a 10-point priority action plan that includes things like establishing a task force to obtain and provide input on street design and traffic safety policies and Identifying "Traffic Safety Champions" who will engage and communicate with the community.

Other parts of the plan are as follows:

- * Establish a Safe Speed Initiative: Implementing 25 MPH speed limit on city streets.

- * Targeted Enhancement Initiative to inventory and identify sidewalks and intersections for safety and mobility improvements.

- * Enhancing Marked Crosswalks to develop location spacing standards at intersections, bus shelters and side streets.

- * A 63-mile connected bicycle network to support biking corridors and priority intersections; 19 miles are currently in place.

- * Enhanced Snow & Ice Removal Initiative to increase frequency of sidewalk and bus shelter clearing, evaluate opportunities for treatment on bike lanes.

- * Work with New York State to implement speed and red light camera deployment, with revenues dedicated to Vision Zero initiatives.

- * Lake Avenue Enhanced – create a rapid bus transit corridor to reduce collisions and enhance public transportation along this dangerous stretch of road.

- * Vision Zero Report: To include key outcome and activity-based metrics. City Council members noted the City has the ambitious goal of eradicating all traffic-related fatalities and severe injuries within the city.

They believe adopting the Vision Zero plan marks a significant achievement for the City Council's Pact with the People, which vowed to advocate for the plan to enhance Rochester's safety, housing quality, and equitable opportunities.

"Vision Zero is a roadmap for the City to create a safer, more equitable transportation system," said Rochester City Councilmember Mitch Gruber. "As we follow this plan and effectively engage the community, the City of Rochester will foster a culture of safety and responsibility on our streets."

In 2010 the city instituted a red light camera program but after facing a lawsuit over the program and facing major opposition from city residents, Lovely Warren, the mayor at the time, decided to not renew the program when it expired in 2016.

GUN VIOLENCE AWARENESS DAY AND WEAR ORANGE WEEKEND, JUNE 7-9

Mayor Malik D. Evans

From the City of Rochester, County of Monroe News Release

This weekend, Friday, June 7 through Sunday, June 9 is Gun Violence Awareness Day and Wear Orange Weekend in Rochester and Monroe County, joining a national movement to associate gun violence with the color that hunters wear to protect human life. Gun Violence Awareness Day and Wear Orange Weekend are recognized each year by communities across the country on the first Friday and weekend of June.

Mayor Malik D. Evans and Monroe County Executive Adam J. Bello joined dozens of community members representing ROC Against Gun Violence Coalition, Moms Demand Action, Rise Up Rochester, Pathways to Peace, the Rochester Peace Collective, and others outfitted in orange on June 1 to read the joint proclamation and announce a city-wide End Gun Violence pledge to enhance community collaborations against gun violence.

"The City of Rochester and the County of Monroe are committed to ending gun violence together with our law enforcement agencies at the local, state, and federal levels and our host of devoted community partners, including ROC Against Gun Violence Coalition, Moms Demand Action, Rise Up Rochester, Pathways to Peace, and the Rochester Peace Collective," the Mayor and County Executive stated in the joint City-County Proclamation."

The wear orange movement was initially conceived by the classmates of 15-year-old Hadiya Pendelton of Chicago, who was shot and killed on a school playground one week after marching in President Barack Obama's inauguration parade.

"We call on the people of Rochester and Monroe County to wear orange this weekend and to come together as one community to heal, offer comfort, promote gun safety, honor the lives lost to gun violence, and join the movement to abolish gun violence," Evans and Bello said.

The ROC Against Gun Violence Coalition seeks to end gun violence in Rochester by bringing attention to the root causes and effects of gun violence and promoting improved quality of life in Rochester's neighborhoods.

The Coalition is made up of several community partners and stakeholders who are working to end gun violence.

- * Moms Demand Action for Gun Sense in America, a national grassroots advocacy agency with a chapter in Monroe County, and it has played a leading role in promoting the message across the country.
- * Rise Up Rochester, Incorporated is a nonprofit that empowers the community to establish and maintain a nonviolent culture and provides support to crime victims and their families.
- * Pathways to Peace is a street-level team that provides support and nonviolent alternatives for youth who are resorting to violence to settle disputes or becoming involved in gangs and drugs.

* The members of the City's Pathways to Peace team are available to help safeguard the lives of these youth, trained to diffuse potentially violent situations, and help them get on track to a better life.

The City's Rochester Peace Collective guides investments in innovative and proven programs that work to prevent violent crime by collaborating with community-based organizations and agencies working in the fields of conflict resolution, youth development, re-entry, and violence prevention.

ROC JUNETEENTH TO SPONSOR RUN/WALK AND JAZZ EVENTS

This year, Roc Juneteenth is holding: its eighth annual 5K run/walk, along with a day-long jazz. Roc Juneteenth will present "Roc Juneteenth Jazz," from 1 to 8 pm Sunday, June 16, at Highland Park, in Highland Bowl.

Juneteenth recalls the trauma of enslavement and celebrates the end of that horrific institution.

"Juneteenth also reminds us of the resilience and creativity, the influence, and the legacy of Black people," says Roc Juneteenth Race Director Gloria Johnson-Hovey. "One part of that legacy is a beautiful art form, jazz music."

This series of performances will honor Black and Brown jazz musicians and is free. However, tickets are needed and can be retrieved at Eventbrite.com.

The 8th annual Roc Juneteenth 2024 5K Run/Walk will begin at 1 pm, Wednesday, June 19 at 1:00 p.m. at Genesee Valley Park, Riverbend Shelter, located along the Genesee River. To register for the walk/run visit itsyourrace.com. If unable to attend the run/walk, event, there is sign up for the virtual events.

The free concert, featuring RJ and Friends celebrating the accomplishments of Black musicians, will take place from 4 p.m. to 6 pm Wed., June 19, at the Roundhouse Shelter, across from the Riverbend Shelter.

"We had a wonderful community response to the evening jazz concert last year and decided to expand it, to grow it to a stand-alone event," says Ms Johnson-Hovey. Next year, Roc Juneteenth will expand that one-day event.

"We feel that jazz music and Juneteenth should not be separate; connecting the two is imperative, especially during the month of June, Black Music Month," she said. By holding two jazz events, she added, "we are honoring Rochester's deep history with jazz."

Bring your lawn chair or blanket, and relax, or dance to the sounds and rhythms of jazz.

RRH GIVES 100 FREE BICYCLE, SKATE HELMETS TO R-CENTER YOUTH

Rochester Regional Health

Golisano Restorative Neurology & Rehabilitation Center of Rochester Regional Health has collected more than 100 bicycle and skate helmets distributing free of charge to children's learning to bike and skate at City R-Centers on Monday, June 3.

"Small steps like taking a moment to put on a helmet can make all the difference to protect a kid from a life-altering brain injury," said Mayor Malik Evans. "We're so grateful to Rochester Regional Health, the local businesses who hosted donation boxes and the entire community who jumped at the opportunity to support kids learning how to bike and skate in a safe way."

In honor of Brain Injury Awareness Month, the team at Rochester Regional Health's Golisano Restorative Neurology & Rehabilitation Center spent the month of March collecting new bike and skate helmets. Teaming up with several local businesses, Rochester Regional Health (RRH) placed drop boxes throughout Rochester, collected dozens of helmets, and raised over $1,000 to purchase additional helmets.

Partnering with Rochester Regional Health to collect helmets were the following: Bert's Bikes & Fitness, The Bike Zone, City of Rochester, Cellino Law Firm, Assemblyman Josh Jensen, Endless Highways, Erie Canal Boat Company, Irondequoit Library, Rochester Accessible Adventures, Three Heads Brewing Company, Town of Perinton Recreation Department, and Towpath Bike.

"They say the best treatment is to prevent an injury from ever even happening," said Dr. Sean Silverman, Medical Director of Golisano Restorative Neurology & Rehabilitation. "That's why Golisano Rehab's mission is twofold: to treat and prevent. Each helmet donated is a tangible step towards brain injury prevention."

Since 1989, the Golisano Restorative Neurology & Rehabilitation Center at Unity Hospital has provided the Rochester community with education on how to prevent brain injuries while providing comprehensive rehabilitation after a brain injury occurs.

RRH's rehabilitation program is the largest of its kind in the Finger Lakes region and is home to the only CARF-accredited rehabilitation center in Central and Western New York for both pediatric and adult patients.

If you missed out on the opportunity to donate to the helmet drive, donations are still being accepted online at www.rochealth.com/helmet.

HONOR FLIGHT NETWORK BRINGING AFRICAN AMERICAN VETERANS TO NATIONAL WAR MEMORIALS FOR INAUGURAL JUNETEENTH EVENT

Black veterans from the Atlanta area to receive trip of a lifetime visiting memorials built in their honor and in remembrance of those who made the ultimate sacrifice for our country.

Honor Flight Network is proud to announce its first-ever Juneteenth Honor Flight trip, which will celebrate African American veterans from the Atlanta area. On June 19, 2024, these American heroes will take a special flight to Washington, D.C. to visit the national memorials built to honor and commemorate their service and sacrifice.

The veterans, revered for their dedication and service, will embark on a journey of remembrance and gratitude with an all-expenses-paid trip from Atlanta to the nation's capital.

There, they will be immersed in a day of visits to the World War II Memorial, Korean War Memorial, Vietnam Veterans Memorial, Arlington National Cemetery and more. Part of the group will include a 101-year-old veteran, three Purple Heart recipients, one of whom is also a Bronze Star recipient, and four women veterans.

"For our inaugural Juneteenth event, we're paying tribute to the unsung heroes of our nation, the Black veterans who selflessly served during America's most pivotal war periods," said Meredith Rosenbeck, Honor Flight Network chief executive officer. "These veterans will return home with a renewed sense of pride, reminded by a grateful nation that they truly made a difference for each of us."

Honor Flight Network is a national nonprofit organization formed in 2005 with a mission of celebrating our nation's veterans by inviting them to share in a day of honor at our nation's memorials in Washington, D.C. All honored veterans travel at no cost to them. Since 2005, Honor Flight Network has given nearly 300,000 veterans across the country the profound experience of visiting our nation's war memorials.

"Many African American veterans were not only charged with defending our nation, but also had to battle various limits placed upon them by society," said John McCaskill, Honor Flight Network board member and Civil War and American historian and military educator. "The Juneteenth Honor Flight trip will highlight the extraordinary courage and resilience of Black veterans and demonstrate gratitude for their tremendous service."

Participation in an Honor Flight trip gives veterans the opportunity to experience the monuments alongside their comrades, recounting stories and experiences and remembering those who made the ultimate sacrifice for our country. As a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization, Honor Flight Network coordinates the travel of approximately 22,000 veterans from around the country each year with the help of volunteers and generous partners. All honored veterans travel at no cost to them.

Honor Flight Network was formed in Honor Flight Network

2005 with a mission of celebrating our nation's veterans by inviting them to share in a day of honor at our nation's memorials. Honor Flight Network is currently comprised of 128 hubs throughout the country dedicated to carrying out the Honor Flight mission.

In addition to World War II veterans, the organization honors those who served in the Korean War, Vietnam War, intermediary operations, and in special cases of terminal illness or injury, veterans from more recent service eras. All honored veterans travel at no cost to them. Since 2005, Honor Flight Network has taken nearly 300,000 veterans to Washington D.C. ## PROJECT 2025 IS AN ATTACK ON BLACK PEOPLE

Julianne Malveaux

Dr. Julianne Malveaux

Project 2025 is a conservative manifesto if a Republican is elected President in 2024. Crafted by the Heritage Foundation, the 900-page book comprehensively addresses every agency that the President can influence, with suggestions for the agencies that should be eliminated or altered. It is an attack on our merit-based civil service system, suggesting that presidential appointees should replace long-term civil servants. African Americans should note that we are overrepresented in the federal workforce – 18.2 percent compared to 12.6 percent of the total population.

Whites are also overrepresented, being 61 percent of the federal workforce, compared to 59 percent of the overall population. Hispanics (using the federal designation) are the most underrepresented of any population. Interestingly, if Project 2025 and Project 47 had their way, we would not even know these numbers. They've both proposed stopping counts by race, as they want our society to be "color blind".

While Project 2025 was put together by the Heritage Foundation, it reeks of the 45th President. Many of his loyalists and former employees have contributed to the volume. For example, Dr. Ben Carson wrote the chapter on HUD, Peter Navarro, another Trump crony who was, among other things, Assistant to the President, authored a chapter on trade. Incidentally, Navarro is currently serving jail time for contempt of Congress. But the 45th President says that, if elected, he would "absolutely" bring Navarro back. You can dive into the volume, replete with an authoritarianism recidivism, by checking it out at project2025.org.

While the African American community is not mentioned explicitly (except for the mandate to eliminate affirmative action and diversity, equity and inclusion efforts), the policies that Project 2025 are aligned with conservative policy. Project 2025 would cut spending in education, housing assistance, and other areas where African Americans and others frequently benefit. The project would also reduce government regulation, especially in labor markets. Project 2025 is a comprehensive attack on contemporary government organization, and it also has a component that is actively seeking the most conservative people to populate a new Republican administration.

The former President goes even further than Project 2025, since the Heritage Foundation is a tax-exempt organization that cannot support any particular candidate. Project 47 comes from the Trump Administration and embraces much of Project 2025, but also more aggressively addresses the Department of Justice, which would be weaponized to get revenge on President Biden (even though he didn't do anything to the former president) by going after him for offenses, real or imagined. Project 47 would actually establish the next Republican president as a dictator who can hire and fire at will, eliminate agencies at will, and do whatever he wants.

The plan would weaken or eliminate the Department of Education, sending some federal funds, especially Title I funds that are targeted toward low-income students, back to the states. While President Biden has attempted student debt relief, the next President would eliminate those efforts. Other discretionary funds that the Secretary of Education can grant will also be cut under Project 2025.

Project 2025 reeks of Christian conservatism, describing our nation as one with "Judeo-Christian values". From that perspective, the agenda emphasizes the "traditional family", perhaps excluding the majority of the population. It would also impose work requirements on Medicaid, but where would those affected work, and how much would they be paid? The Project 2025 document would shred the safety net, leaving the poor to fend for themselves, ignoring employment discrimination and the structural inequities that result in the poverty that so many people experience.

Reproductive rights? Forget about it. Project 2025 would reduce abortion access and even criminalize abortion in some cases. It's "leave it to the states" perspective could mean that more than half of all women would have no access to reproductive medical services.

In the past month or so we have seen a number of weather challenges that are related to climate change – tornadoes, hurricanes, extreme heat. But Project 2025 would gut climate policy and roll back the Inflation Reduction Act. Since Black people live close to pollution sources and have disproportionate health effects from climate issues, ignoring climate issues is an attack on Black people. And let's not talk about voting rights. Project 2025 would tighten voting regulations, perhaps eliminating early voting and mail voting, imperiling the African Americans voter franchise.

Project 2025 began in 2022 and was released in book form last year as A Mandate for Leadership: The Conservative Promise. It lays out a frightening Republican agenda, a reversal of many of the hard-won victories of the past several decades. I'd like for some of the Black Americans who think our 45th president "wasn't so bad", to read the book and govern themselves accordingly. President Biden likes to say that democracy is on the ballot. He should also say that economic justice, health access, and educational equity are also on the line.

THE NEXT JURORS ARE THE AMERICAN VOTERS

Op-ed by
David W. Marshall

During a television interview, a Republican lawmaker was once asked if there was anything about then-President Barack Obama you liked. He quickly responded, by stating he liked the fact that Obama was a family man.

The same sentiment was reinforced years earlier by former Senator John McCain during the 2008 presidential campaign. During an October 10, 2008, town hall event in Lakeville, Minnesota, a person in attendance told McCain that she could not trust Obama. The woman called Obama "an Arab" at the height of the conspiracy theory movement claiming Obama was not a natural-born citizen and therefore ineligible to be president. "No ma'am, he's a decent family man, citizen, that I just happen to have disagreements with on fundamental issues, and that's what this campaign is all about," McCain said to the town hall crowd.

The exchange came to be viewed as a defining moment in McCain's long political career. The Washington Post named it one of McCain's most courageous political moments. The exchange illustrates how political opponents on the campaign trail can maintain degrees of respect and civility toward each other. Unfortunately, our political environment has evolved. The idea of maintaining basic respect and civility among lawmakers is no longer commonplace. Secondly, Sen. McCain highlighted how love of family is one thing we all have in common. Whether it is a white social conservative family in rural America or a Black progressive family from the inner city, people of all political persuasions can relate to each other in regards to the fondness and support they have for their families.

Having a president who is a strong family man meant something at one point in time, particularly to those who prided themselves in promoting "God, family and country". This was true even when the president was a so-called hated democrat named Barack Obama. Never before has a former president been convicted of a crime before now. When it comes to his supporters, the content of a president's character no longer matters when that president is named Donald Trump. When Trump was found guilty of trying to influence the 2016 election by falsifying payment to a porn star to buy her story of an affair, some viewed the verdict through a political lens while others viewed it strictly through a judicial lens.

In 1998, conservatives were not hesitant in viewing the scandal involving former president Bill Clinton and White House intern Monica Lewinsky from a moral lens. So far, Trump has managed to dodge the judicial and moral scrutiny from his fellow Republicans and a large amount of the electorate. Everything to them is political to their advantage.

MAGA Republicans can't have it both ways by embracing the phrase "God, family and country" while promoting conspiracy theories that undermine religion, family values and patriotism. They also can not embrace conspiracy theories that seek to destroy the confidence and trust in the American judicial system. A Trump campaign memo contained talking points for Republican lawmakers suggesting they call the case against Trump a sham, hoax, witch hunt and election interference.

Republicans have abandoned their most deeply held principles that they can no longer, with any amount of credibility, call themselves the party of family values, defenders of the Constitution and the party of "law and order". What would have been the reaction from the MAGA crowd if it were Barack Obama or Hillary Clinton who was convicted of 34 felony charges?

The U.S. Senate and House are running out of John McCain type Republicans who have the political courage to place the country first rather than succumb to conspiracy theories regarding a "rigged" system.

It took 12 Manhattan jurors only a few days to go behind doors, deliberate and come up with a unanimous decision concerning Donald Trump's guilt. It is safe to say that those jurors were objective and serious when looking at the facts and evidence through a judicial lens. The bet from the Trump camp figured at least one juror would be political in reviewing the evidence that the former president committed adultery and tried to hide it from the public to avoid losing a presidential election. The one juror never materialized.

In November, the American voters are not deciding the outcome of a criminal trial, but they are choosing if a convicted felon will become president of the United States. As a convicted felon, Trump would be banned from 37 countries should he be elected president. Some of those countries include several of America's strongest allies such as the United Kingdom, Australia, Canada, Israel and Mexico.

Whether you agree or disagree with the verdict, the process was performed according to the law. The election process will be the same. No rigged verdict and no rigged election results. As voters, we too are jurors. We need to be objective in considering the facts involving the case, and what it would mean to the credibility of our nation to have a convicted criminal felon elected head of state and commander-in-chief.
